

While in Arizona studying Audio Engineering, Ben Daniels decided to be a musician. A natural poet, he soon became a young songwriter schooled on Bob Dylan, Robert Johnson, J.J. Cale and John Prine, among others.

Since 2006, Ben has written songs that speak directly to the things we all see, recognize and think. Years later, his lyrics have the authenticity of an artist.

Together since 2008, the Ben Daniels Band cuts through with an Americana sound. From their opening song to the finale of their set, their musicianship, experience and originality make no two shows alike. And with the bluegrass roots of Tommy Reifel (bass), Wesley Fritzemeier (drums/mandolin/fiddle), George Merkel (guitar) and Josh "Raised On Country" Silas (guitar/lap steel), BDB's live show never fails to take over the venue.
